

A PCB build of the separate clock module, this is the same circuit used in Ben Eaters 8bit computer build. While it can be used standalone as a clock module by itself, it is intended for use with the BE6502 computer and has a reduced chip—count.